Howdy PhanJam

Thanks for your interest in joining social.coop. We're approving your application to join our instance.

Joining social.coop does take a few more steps than joining other platforms so please be patient (or even enthusiastic!) about the many different platforms we use to cooperate with one another across timezones.

To set up your account on the social.coop Mastodon, click this link. Once your account is set up, you'll automatically be following the social.coop admin account. For your first toot, please write an introduction post that includes #introduction and any other hashtags of things that interest you!

Then, if you have not already, please set up your subscription payment on OpenCollective via this link. The fee is sliding scale $1-10/month, and setting up payments on an annual rather than monthly cycle saves our co-op a bit in terms of transaction fees.

Social.Coop is a member of Meet.Coop, the cooperative online meeting service. We use this platform for real time get-togethers but you can use it for your own purposes for non-social.coop gatherings too. Get a free account via this link.

Our instance is democratically governed by its members, which now includes you! To be an effective co-operative, it's important that members participate in its governance by generally keeping informed on the goings on and strategic direction of social.coop. To take part, please request to join the members Loomio group via this link. Note: when you register on Loomio, please include your Social.Coop username so we can recognize you as a member.

You're getting this email from me because I'm the member of the Community Working Group Operations Team who is on-call this week. Feel free to follow up if you have any issues; my handle on the instance is @emi.

In Cooperation!
